Description

Designed for one to three riders, the WOW Sports Inflatable Towable Tube is a great option for those looking to enjoy an exciting ride on the water with friends. The different riding positions allow for versatility and cater to riders of different skill levels, making it a good choice for both beginners and more experienced riders. The couch-style position is safer for those who are new to inflatable rides, while the chariot-style option allows for a more adventurous ride for those who want to try something more challenging.
